The Four Way Test

Of all the things we think, say or do

1. Is it the TRUTH?
2. Is it FAIR to all concerned?
3. Will it build GOODWILL & BETTER FRIENDSHIPS?
4. Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?

ROTARY HO!
The Official Bulletin of Frankston North Rotary

President David's Message

This has been a different week for our Rotary Club, with Members attending the International Women's' Day Breakfast at Mornington Racing Club. Thank to those Members who organised the Car Parking and who attended the Breakfast. The organising Committee, headed by Past President Judi McKee, presented a very good Programme with two excellent Guest Speakers. One was a little bit energetic for so early in the morning. I know Past President Judi will present a more formal account of the day including an announcement regarding some Scholarships and Sponsors for next Year

I am very pleased with the number of Members and Partners planning to visit Gippsland in April. Past District Governor Tony Spring will update the Club on the proposed program for the weekend.

It was with deep regret that we heard of the passing of Judy Granger, wife of our much loved Past President, Keith (Keithy Old Son) Granger (Deceased). Our thoughts are with the family at this time. The Funeral arrangements have been circulated to all Members.

With regret we also announce the passing of Margaret Dean, wife of Past Member Harry Dean.

Look forward to seeing you all at The Sands Hotel, Carrum Downs on Wednesday for a Club Assembly followed by a Board Meeting.

Have a good week in Rotary.

Lauren Burns created sporting history by winning the first ever Olympic medal for Taekwondo when the sport made its debut at the Sydney 2000 Olympic Games.

Lauren was one of only three Australian women to win an individual Olympic Gold Medal, along with Cathy Freeman and Susie O'Neill. Her amazing triumph was achieved against the odds requiring enormous discipline, commitment, perseverance and teamwork. The nation watched as Lauren's victory brought the Australian public and Olympic crowd to its feet. Before her Olympic win, few people knew that Lauren had been 12 times Australian Champion and had achieved a string of international titles including numerous medals at world championship level. Since the Sydney Olympics, Lauren has emerged as one of the most successful Olympians from these Games.

How it all began...

After growing up without much involvement in sport it was a surprise to Lauren's friends when she took up taekwondo at the age of fourteen. Enthusiasm to attend her first lesson was spurred on by her brother Michael who started at age seven motivated to learn the '80's craze "The Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles". Lauren, Michael and their father Ronnie all attended regular classes but it was Lauren that got a taste for the competitive side of taekwondo.

Lauren's focus and determination strengthened as her desire to become a better taekwondo player grew. In 1994 taekwondo was announced as an Olympic sport and Korean coach Jintae Jeong was appointed National coach. Although Lauren had been on many national teams her commitment to the sport became paramount with this announcement and her goal of making the Olympic team in the -49kg division was strong in mind.

At the Sydney 2000 Olympic Games, this dream was realised and Lauren Burns became the first ever gold medal winner in the sport of taekwondo.

I just felt tonight that all my competitors were tough, they were the best in the world and I had to go out and give it everything I had... I had to give it heart, give it soul, give it passion and the Australian crowd really helped to lift me up... The energy was incredible.”

Dr Alice Hill '81, Ph.D. '91, will succeed Margaret Wang '09 as president of the Harvard Alumni Association for 2019–2020.

Kris Snibbe/Harvard Staff Photographer

Meeting alumni where they are has been a priority for every Harvard Alumni Association (HAA) president since John Quincy Adams led the organization upon its founding in 1840. Today, with around 60,000 Harvard alumni living outside the United States, international travel is a big part of the job. For incoming president Alice Hill '81, Ph.D. '91, it's just a fact of life.

Hill has made the 24-hour-plus trip from her home in Melbourne, Australia, to Cambridge four times each year since joining the HAA Executive Committee in 2015. But that's a relatively quick jaunt compared to the two-day journeys she embarked upon every summer as a child, traveling from her small town of Inuvik inside the Arctic Circle in Canada's Northwest Territories to visit family in Boston.

And her globe-trotting didn't stop there. After graduating from Radcliffe College, where she studied economics and played on the inaugural women's ice hockey team, Hill earned her master's at the London School of Economics, went back to Canada to work for the federal government, and then returned to Harvard for her Ph.D. in business economics.

Wherever life has taken her, she has found ways to stay connected to the University, even from thousands of miles away. "I love this community," said Hill, who has been a member of Harvard Clubs in London, Ottawa, Washington, D.C., and Victoria (Australia). She has also served on the HAA board as director for Australasia, vice president for University-wide alumni affairs, and, currently, first vice president. "Harvard is a way to meet really interesting people, but more importantly, it's a way to get really interesting and capable people working together to do things that we couldn't do as individuals."
